Royalty, But No Snow

A pep rally will kick-off the week-end, Thursday night at 9:45. Skits, speeches and the six king and queen finalists will be presented.

Friday night's film has been changed. "Who Was that Lady," starring Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh is now being planned.

Alumni Association Gives Citation To Neumann For Outstanding Job

Dr. Edwin J. Neumann, a 1944 graduate of Wartburg, was awarded a Wartburg Alumni Citation in convocation Thursday. Dr. Neumann is a career officer of the United States Information Agency stationed in Kano, Nigeria.

This citation is "in recognition of his outstanding services to God, country and fellow men — through effective teaching and through a distinguished career in the United States Information Agency."

Neumann, who is the son of Dr. G. J. Neumann, English Department, was an English major at Wartburg and received his doctorate from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., in 1951.

Although presentations of this type are usually made in the spring, it was decided by the directors of the Alumni Association to make this presentation while the recipient was in the U.S.

Dr. Neumann will be leaving Waverly on Monday or Tuesday when he will go to Washington, D.C. for a month-long Foreign Service Institute. On March 27 Dr. Neumann is scheduled to return to Kano for another two years with the U.S. Cultural Center there.

Neumann, who is married and has two children, headed the American House in Vienna until last May when he was transferred to Kano to take over a Cultural Center started by five Nigerians. He is the first U.S. representative to hold this post.

During the past week Neumann also received word that he had been promoted from grade four to grade three in the U.S.I.A. There are eight possible grades, grade one being the highest, and its holder usually is in charge of an entire country.

Kano is in Northern Nigeria, has a population of approximately one hundred and fifty thousand and is 98 per cent Moslem. The people in Nigeria are pro-West and "quite receptive," according to Neumann.

Neumann, who has taught at Wartburg in summer sessions, said that he does anticipate a Washington assignment in approximately two years.

WALTER FREDRICK, business manager, holds a special alumni citation for outstanding service to God, country and fellow men, which was presented to Dr. Edwin Neumann of the United States Information Center in Kano, Nigeria. The presentation was made in convocation Thursday. Alumni Director Robert Gremmels, right, reads the citation.

Dean's List For Sem. Includes Eleven With 4.

Full-time students receiving 3.5 or better for the first semester 1963-64 school year have been named for the Dean's List.

Those seniors who received a four point are Lois Kuhlmann, Jacklyn Lohr, Allen Mardorf, Marilyn Post, Lois Rowell and Paul Wilken.

Other seniors who received a 3.5 or better are Mary Ann Ahrendt, Curtis Klassen, Mrs. Karen Wilken, Lana Stavnheim, Dianne Schlichting, Joanne Gammel, John Hyland, Nelson Meyer, Celia Filter, Richard Kemming and Anne Hartmann.

Also Karen Kruger, David Voights, August Waltmann, Kathleen Waughop, Hazel Handeland, Alene Aulich, Ellen Haars, Maxine Bauer, Bonnie Loufek and Lois Piotter.

Juniors who received a four point are Brian Kruger, Keith Tomlinson and Carolyn Wulff.

Other juniors on the list are Judith Slade, Elizabeth Kalkwarf, James Zeller, Terry Dahlquist, LaVonne Kragel, Joanne Kinsinger, Marlys Slattum, John Adams and Judith Lanaghan.

Richard Howie, Barbara Bose, Elaine McIntosh, Janet Hoppenworth, Corrine Hanson, David Hutson, Mrs. Sherry Zietlow, Judy Hoeger, Carol Hengeveld, Merlin Schaefer and Kathryn Schroder have also been named to the Dean's list.

Sophomores on the Dean's List are Ruth Bruning, Laura Gade, Susan Kell, Marilee Neptun, Larry Trachte, Eleanore Gerdes, Verlyn Behm, David Carter, Merdes Anderson and Janice Hansen.

Anne Hazlewood, Donna Huntley, Faber Miller, Marie Post, Dianne Ellison, Gerene Meyer, Michael Peich, Hanne Marie Andersen and Raymond Shaughnessy.

Freshmen Barbara Peterson and David Ziegler both received four points.

Other freshmen on the Dean's List are Karen LaFortune, Janice deNeui, Joye Schember, Vanice Vandree, Jean Biere, Roger Kamrath, Martha Krueger, Sharron Johnson, James Woessner, Barbara Schmidt, Ann Sepp and Edith Dodd.

Jack Fistler, Ruth Pirsig, Larry Pleggenkuhle, Roberta Getzloff, James Dixon, Allen Lyndrup, Barbara Mohning, Myrna Liebers, Julianne Meyne, Patricia Gatzke, James Kinsinger and Constance Meyer.

V. Pinke To Replace Thompson

Victor Pinke, who became Assistant Director of Admissions at Wartburg College Sept. 1, has been promoted to Acting Head, effective April 1.

He succeeds Fred Thompson, who is leaving to become Director of Public Relations at Luther College.

Pinke, who graduated from Wartburg in 1955, was a teacher-counselor in the Garnavillo public school system prior to moving here.

He currently is a summer school student at State College of Iowa with plans to complete his M.A. degree.

A native of Elkton, Minn., Pinke taught at Garnavillo for eight years except for two interruptions by military service.

He attended Wartburg from 1951-55 and then did summer graduate work at three other schools, 1956 at the State University of Iowa, 1959 at the University of Minnesota and 1961 and 1962 at SCI.

Thompson has been at Wartburg since 1957 as Director of Admissions.

Applications Due Feb. 14

"I would like to remind all students who want to apply for a scholarship but haven't yet, that the Feb. 14 deadline for applications is approaching," said Mrs. Florence Hertlein, chairman of the Scholarship Committee.

There are 80 scholarships to be awarded, but the applications are far below this number. It is emphasized that these cannot be awarded to anyone unless students apply for them.

Eligibility is based primarily on grade point with the need factor taken into consideration after the first qualification is met.

Students receiving National Defense Loans are asked to see Mrs. Hertlein before Feb. 12 to review their loan situation.

"According to recent information, there is a possibility that the government will increase our allocation for defense loans," said Mrs. Hertlein.

"We have made application for the maximum possible from these funds. However, we cannot make any loans or commitments until we receive definite confirmations," she added.

No Cigarettes Will Be Sold At Wartburg

Cigarettes will not be sold on Wartburg campus according to a resolution passed by Wartburg College Cabinet.

This will go into effect March 1.

Action was taken by the Cabinet in view of the facts released by the Surgeon General Luther L. Terry's Advisory Committee on smoking and health.

This legislation is not one of moral judgment but the college feels a "moral obligation not to be a party to helping perpetuate a health hazard."

Similar steps have been taken by other colleges and business establishments, one being a Waverly drugstore.

Knights Skin Duhawks, 82-79, In Close Battle

By Harry Jebson

Continuing dominance on the home court, the Knights defeated the Loras Duhawks in a hard fought 82-79 victory. Tuesday's game showed what good scoring balance and team effort can do.

Garry Medlang was high man for the hardcounters with 18 but he was hard pressed by Dick Ridout with 16, Al Buenning with 13, Cliff Cameron with 12, and Lowell Syverson with 11. "Handy" man Dave Lange contributed 8 vital points to the attack.

Knights opened up a quick lead on the Duhawks but that diminished with outside shooting of Loras guard Gerry Klimisch, who was high point man for the night with 27 counters.

With fourteen minutes left in the half, the Knights tied up the game at fourteen all, but the rest of the half was entirely Loras'. They slowly opened up their lead, killing the Knights off the boards.

Wartburg's ace rebounder, Al Buenning, was out of the game at the time because of three quick fouls, and with Al went the Wartburg attack. Sloppy ballhandling marred the home team's performance as well as the lack of rebounding strength.

Loras led 39-33 at half. The second half, however, was a different story, and that was evident from the opening jump.

Quickly the Knights poured in three straight buckets. Dick Ridout, Garry Medlang, and Lowell Syverson combined on a fast break which was the best play on the home court all season, and gave the Knights a 40-39 lead which they never relinquished.

Cliff Cameron took up the rebounding slack the second half as the Knights poured in 49 points in the last twenty minutes.

Al Buenning came off the bench with 13 minutes left. His inside shooting ignited the attack again as the Knights opened a 64-54 lead with 8:30 left to play.

Loras came back strong in the second half with a full court press, but the Knights, sparked by Dave Lange, met the challenge and went on to win, 82-79.

THINGS SEEM to be a bit "up in the air" as Wartburg's Al Buenning not only relies on his teammates for their needed help, but also falls back on a few Loras players.

The Knights slipped past Loras in a tightly-fought 82-79 victory Tuesday night.

Alpha-men Over Gamma 72-27 In Saturday's I.M. Action

By Dan Knobloch

Alpha House rolled over Gamma House 72-27 last Saturday in Alpha's opening game of the current intramural season. Alpha is one of the top contenders for the Big Ten title.

Ken Steege and Duane Kamrath led the Alpha-men with 18 and 17 points respectively. Larry Moth was high scorer for Gamma, with 10. Ken Steege and Ed Keith fouled out.

THE WARTBURG TRUMPET

Saturday, February 8, 1964, Waverly, Iowa

Track Season Opens Feb. 15

Wartburg cindermen have the potential of being the best squad yet, according to track coach Dave Olson. Wartburg will hit the cinder track this season with some thirty prospects.

Among the prospects returning are lettermen Senior Lothar Columbus, Junior Joel Niemann and Sophomores Jerry Zehr and Mike Peich, the team's leading point getters last season.

Seniors Roger Palmer and Bob Wachholz, Junior Harold Shudlick and Sophomore Lowell Syverson are also returning letter winners.

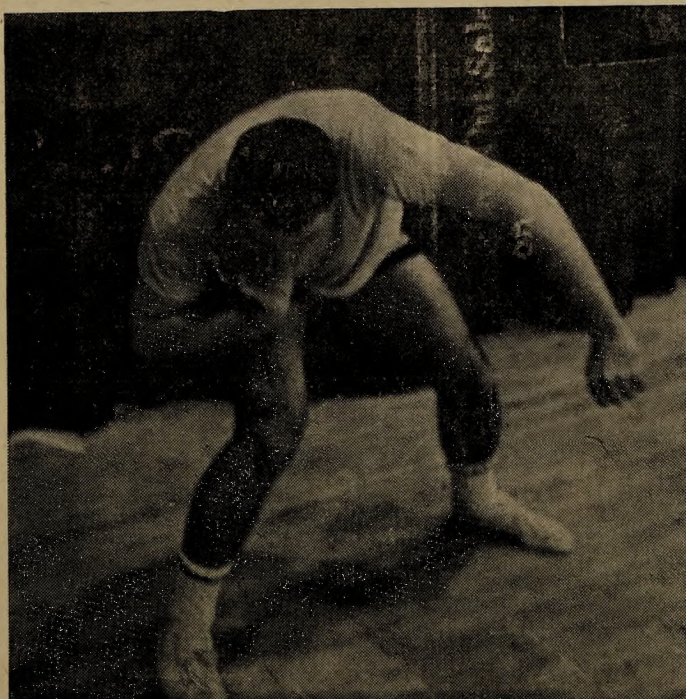

With three of these men already holding school records in their events, the Knights can look for great things in the upcoming season. Coach Olson feels that he has added great strength in many areas.

Also among the thirty prospects are a number of promising freshmen. Jack Fistler, Grundy Center, Gerald Meister, Madison, Wis. and Jim Wossener of Sterling, Ill. are potential outstanding prospects in their respective events.

Freshman John Van Gerpen of Belmond and Sophomore transfer Rodger Haynes of Gothenburg, Neb., are also showing possibilities.

The Knights open their indoor season Feb. 15 at Cedar Falls against State College of Iowa and Cornell of Mount Vernon. Coach Olson hopes to see a large number of Wartburg fans at the Cedar Falls meets and he also would like to see a lot of support for what looks like a conference contender.

WARTBURG TRACKMAN Galye Newlon, sophomore from Hoopole, Ill., works out in preparation for spring track season. Season opens for the Knights on Feb. 15 at Cedar Falls.

Knights Grab Win From Statesmen

Wartburg took a firm hold on the fourth place spot in the conference race as they slipped past William Penn 68-64 last Saturday.

Dave Lange, junior, came off the bench to pace the Knights with 18 points. Lange also indicated his strength as a boardman as he grabbed off 15 rebounds.

Guards Dick Ridout and Garry Medlang were the only other Knights in double figures scoring 15 and 14 points respectively.

William Penn had five men in double figures led by Bill Glentzer with 16. The Statesmen's big center, Gary Thompson, who limited Al Buenning to six points, was next with 12 points. Larry Baldwin had 11 followed by Steve Burton and Jim Leforge with 10 each.

This victory for the Knights avenged a 60-52 loss to William Penn earlier in the season.

Matmen Gain First Victory

By Chuck Ditto

Wartburg's mat team muscled their way to their first victory of the 1963-64 campaign in fine fashion as they defeated St. John's of Minnesota 23-8.

This victory came last Saturday afternoon after absorbing a 23-2 thrashing the night before at the hands of St. Cloud. Senior Bernie Masker was the only one to salvage any points for the Knights as he battled to a 6-6 draw with Pete Elam at 157 lbs.

Roger Damrow, senior, started things off on the right track at St. John's as he pinned John Antioch at the 123 lb. division. Taking heed to Damrow's example were Bob Bye (130) and Mike Tower (147) with decisions and Duane Huth (hwt) with a pin.

Masker chipped in two points with his second draw for the weekend. Dave Hutson (137) won by default as his opponent, Dave Spano, suffered a shoulder separation.

Wartburg will enter the Lutheran Tourney to be held at Decorah today with a record of 14-2.

123 Roger Damrow threw John Antioch (SJ) 1:31

130 Bob Bye dec. Terry Radke (SJ) 4-3

137 Dave Hutson won by default over Dave Spano (SJ)

147 Mike Tower dec. Dick Casey (SJ) 6-1

157 Bernie Masker and Jim Keul (SJ) drew 1-1

167 Jim Brum (SJ) dec. Larry Snitker 3-0

177 Don Schrelfels (SJ) dec. Terry Tellefson 7-0

Hwt. Duane Huth threw Stan Suchta (SJ) 5:44

Future Looks Good For Spring Sports

By Mike Becker

Wartburg's tennis hopes have nowhere to go but up and they should this season. Champions returning from last year's conference meet include Jack Wendt at the number 2 singles flight and the doubles team of Jerry Shinkay and John Thalacker in the number 2 doubles flight.

Becker

The first six men are all back. They include Jerry Shinkay, Jack Wendt, Dave Shalkhauser, John Thalacker, Doug Langholz and Dennis Brown. With quite a bit of hard work and some decent weather the netsters should field one of their best teams ever and should greatly improve on their record of last year.

Tennis is a very fast moving sport and deserves more student backing than it has received in the past years. With several fine players on the squad this year, tennis will certainly be a sport to follow closer.

The baseballers, perennial title contenders, seem to have another fine team waiting to pummel their opponents. With the loss of only one regular from last year's conference champs, another good year appears in the making.

This promises to be a unique season in one respect: there doesn't seem to be a wealth of left-handed pitchers as in previous years. Of the big three — Carley, Medlang and Langrock — only Langrock is a lefty. Last year's leading batter, Al Exner, all-conference catcher, is back along with the power hitting outfielders, all-conference Ray Bye and Arlyn Ristau.

Veterans are returning at all positions, but there should be a wide open race for several of the infield positions and at least one of the outfield positions. The discovery of at least one good pitcher to help All-American Leon Carley and company could really bolster the Knights' chances for another championship.

However, all the teams in the conference appear to be equally as well improved as we are and the championship should go to whoever makes the most out of the breaks they receive.

I.M. basketball is progressing as expected with only one real upset, this being the overthrow of the Married Men by a bunch of bachelors. That could be prophetic. This seems to be a year for organization among the various teams with many of the teams showing off well-organized offenses along with pick-up defenses.

The program of paying the referees is working out very well. The games seem to be much more like basketball this year than ever before. Of course, this depends on whom you are playing. Dave Langrock's ingenious inventions have added much to the I.M. program this year and Dave deserves much credit for doing a really fine job in his capacity as I.M. director.

DNA Research Undertaken By Prouty

"The internal protein must effect the DNA, but how? This is our great difficulty," says James Prouty, Biology Department, in connection with the National Science Foundation College Teacher Research Participation Program begun at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., this past summer.

A $2,000 National Science Foundation Grant has been given to Wartburg College for equipment to be used in a continuation research project concerning bacteriophage T2, a virus, which infects E. coli, a common intestinal bacteria found in man.

Bacteriophage is actually a bacterial virus, which is a parasite of bacteria. The viruses for the experiment presently being conducted are furnished by Dr. W. Dean Fraser of Indiana University, who is directing the study.

Before the viruses can be grown in a culture, bacteria must be grown to feed the viruses. Bacteria are maintained by feeding them on special artificial media. Bacteria must be present in large numbers in a solution in order for the viruses to live. This is called a high titer.

Within the head of the virus an acid is contained. It is Deoxyribonucleic Acid, DNA to the laity. This DNA is unbelievably long and is coiled up within the head of the virus. Internal proteins are located around the DNA.

When the parasitic virus comes in contact with the bacteria, the DNA contained in the virus is released into the bacteria. It is now in a much larger area and consequently uncoils. The virus DNA effects the DNA already found in bacteria causing more DNA of the virus type to be formed.

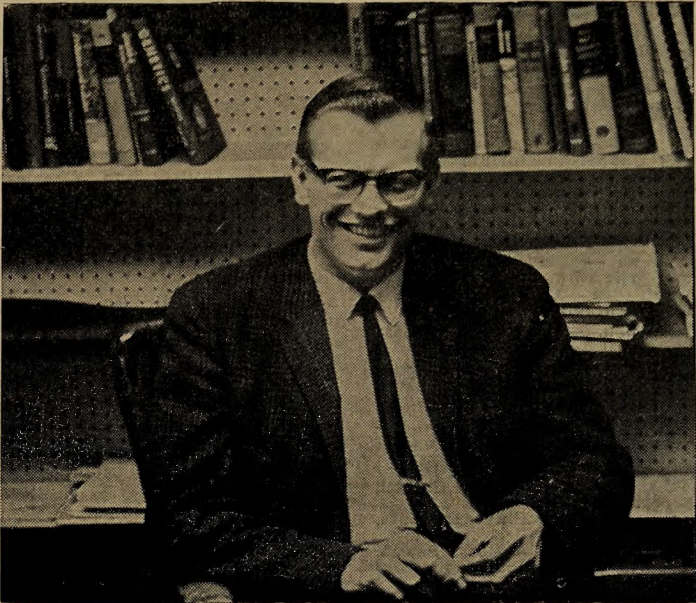

In a matter of twenty minutes, 100 viruses have been formed as a result of one virus coming in contact with one bacterium. In each new virus there is the same amount of DNA that was contained in the first virus. It is now again coiled up to fit into the small head of the virus.

The ultimate difficulty is: How does the DNA in the new virus heads recoil in order to fit into the allotted space?

It is believed that the internal proteins hold the answer. The present problem is how to separate and concentrate internal proteins so they can be identified. Prouty is trying to accomplish this through electrophoresis, a process in which protein ions migrate toward one of the electrodes when placed in an electrical field.

The main difficulty this summer was that Prouty couldn't find a stain which would color the minute proteins. However, in searching through literature, he found that Dr. Fazekas De St. Groth was working with two new staining processes.

Fazekas stated in "Procedures for Quantitative Estimation of Proteins on Electrophoretic Strips" that two stains, Procion Brilliant Blue RS and Coomassie Brilliant Blue R250 had been successfully used to stain small protein particles.

JAMES PROUTY, Biology Department, laughing-ly tries to interpret all the scientific terminology for the Trumpet's lay reporter.

Prouty is now in the process of communicating with him for more details concerning this process.

Students working with Prouty are seniors Ellen Haars of Center Point and Allen Carley of Milford, Ill., and special student Duane Schlitter of Waverly. The students are now conducting some basic experiments in order to qualify for research on this project. Later each student will devise his own experiment and analyze the result. Prouty will guide, supervise and answer questions for them.

Another $2,000 from the college and Biology Department has been added to that from NSF, in order to give the students all new equipment.

2 To Present Recitals

Two recitals will be presented by music students next week, as announced by Dr. Edwin Liebmohr of the Music Department.

James Tjaden, bassoonist from Floyd, will give his senior recital in the Chapel-auditorium at 3 p.m. on Sunday. He will be accompanied by Jayne Christensen, senior, on the piano, and by Ruth Ann Darnauer, junior, on the flute.

Tjaden, who studies under John Bentley, instructor in woodwinds, will play "Suite I in G Major" by Bach, "Trio in G Major for Flute, Bassoon, and Piano" by Beethoven, "Sonata" by Etler and "Concert Piece" by Phillips.

Carolyn Wulff, junior from Canova, S.D., will present her junior recital in piano Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

Miss Wulff will begin with "Toccata in E minor" by Bach and "Sonata in D major, Op. 10, No. 3" by Beethoven. She will conclude with "Impromptu in E-flat major, Op. 90, No. 2" by Schubert, "Rhapsody in E-flat major, Op. 119, No. 4" by Brahms, and "Suite for Piano" by Dello Joio.

Her instructor in piano is Miss Jean Abramson.

Thoughts At Random Show College Joys

By Kathryn Becker

Oh, the simple joys of college life!

Where else but at college could you learn so much without opening a book? Or accomplish so little in an 18-week period? Make friends with a lot of squirrels? Have a professor for a life-long enemy? Even a Ph.D., maybe.

Becker

But there's more to college than that. Of course there is. There's so much more that there is really no beginning. Only an end.

In grade school it was called recess and in high school it was tagged study hall. In college it's convo. The administration, in all its wisdom (at times neatly camouflaged by what could pass for stupidity), realizing that college life is an extremely busy one, saw fit to set aside time for the students to relax and catch up on their sleep, studying, knitting, letter-writing, etc., during a supervised play period.

How the former students lived through this twice-weekly endurance test when convo was held in the gym is beyond me. I'll take the Chapel-aud's padded seats instead of the gym's bleachers every time.

Anyone who says college students are irreligious or sacrilegious are far removed from campus life. How religiously students hold many topics. Particularly grippers (and columnists). Ever tried to get in a good word or fair appraisal of the dean, the cafeteria, convo or the pill of the week? It's just not done. God alone remains untouched by the reverent.

Human nature is almost incomprehensible to humans. When you do it, it's just good clean fun; when someone else does it, it borders on the criminal. And who judges a college student less mercifully than a fellow student?

One might expect pre-The's to be above reproach (some appear to be above everything). But perhaps they just want to acquaint themselves with those aspects of life which they plan to warn future parishioners against.

At any other school, it's just college students being college students. People say, "I remember when . . ." Let it happen at a church-related school and everyone throws up his hands in horror (but not before penning a few choice words).

Some don't realize that these private schools are attended by members of the same generation as the public ones. And I ask you, "If you can't do it at a church-related college, where can you?"

Odd, isn't it? Students who complained about the cold weather are now praying for snow. Must be a big week-end in the planning.

Miss Bergeson Chosen Fortress Queen

Doris Bergeson, senior, was named Fortress queen at halftime of the basketball game last Saturday.

Chosen by the Fortress staff members, Miss Bergeson will reign as queen of the 1964 year-book.

Miss Bergeson is from Radcliffe and is majoring in business education.

Bonn Applications Due February 14

Applications for Bonn Exchange Students at the University of Bonn, Germany, should be in by next Friday, according to J. O. Chellevold, dean of faculty.

Students should be a sophomore more this year and have competence in the German language, at least by next fall.

Application should be made to Dr. Chellevold indicating qualifications, plans and program of pursuit. Applicants also should have a good academic record.

Two choices will be made by Wartburg College and must be approved by the University of Bonn. A stipend usually will cover board, room and tuition.

Lutz Attacks Attitude Of Whites To Negro

By Margaret Judt

"We step on a man's face and then attack him for being ugly," said a guest on our campus a few weeks ago. Charles Lutz, editor of One magazine, described the white attitude toward the colored person in this way at the January LSA meeting.

Who started all this anyway? We cannot complain for having the black man in our midst. Our white ancestors wanted him here; and we want him. We want someone below us on the rungs of the ladder.

Lutz called the problem a majority problem and not a minority one. He said that it is time we stop talking about the Negro problem and start talking about our problem. If you are not helping the race movement you are hindering it — one or the other.

He compared it to a revolution where there are two options and each of us is involved in one of them. A pacifist is guilty of the sin of war even though he is not involved with the military.

Likewise, we are guilty of the sins of apathy and indifference if we do not take a stand on the racial issue.

Quoting the Negro author Lewis Lomax, Lutz said, "We've been white too long. Integration then cultururation and not the other way around. The white must be willing to suffer injustice to help the Negro up, who has suffered injustices for so long."

Black and white should both become like Christ and not the Negro like the white. We have made our white skin an idol. Again quoting (Lomax), "I can get drunk in any tavern in Chicago but I can't get in any church in Cbicago. Maybe they have the crosses on the wrong buildings!"

Our churches are partly to blame for helping to keep white islands. In closing, Lutz used this analogy. "We are just like the boy who killed his parents and then begged mercy on the grounds that he was an orphan."

It seems that nobody speaks on behalf of God; we only speak for ourselves, as individuals. The question remains: does or does not the Christian have a unique role to play in social issues?

What sets him apart from just, humanistic concern for these issues? Let's decide and then do some talking and acting on this matter.

Honor For President

In 1945 the Fortress said in its dedication, "To President C. Becker, who succeeded Dr. Braulich to the presidency, and to whom we look for guidance in our aim to make Wartburg truly a 'Greater Wartburg,' we dedicate the 1945 Fortress."

When Dr. Becker became president, there were about eighteen instructors and twenty-four students in the senior class. Nineteen years later there are about sixty-six instructors and one hundred and eighty-seven seniors. "For a Greater Wartburg" has been the motto of Dr. Becker since he became president on February 3, 1945.

At that time the physical facilities consisted of The Little Theater, Old Main, Wartburg Hall, Luther Hall, North Hall and Grossmann Hall. The college was not accredited.

Step by step, Wartburg grew: personnel-wise, intellectually and as a physical plant.

Wartburg became accredited by North Central Association in 1948. The third story was also added to Grossmann Hall that year. Knights Gymnasium was dedicated in 1949.

An addition to Luther Hall was made in 1952. Progress continued in the building program. Centennial Hall, 1954; Student Union, 1955; Fine Arts, 1956; Vollmer Hall, 1957; Clinton Hall, 1958; Homuth Library, 1959; Chapel-auditorium, 1960; and Hebron Hall, 1962, became additions to our campus under Dr. Becker's leadership. In progress now is an addition to the Student Union and plans for the science building are progressing.

Although it may seem that these structures "sprang" up, Dr. Becker probably could not begin to count the hours involved. Speaking engagements filled a big part of his schedule, in addition to all the administrative duties.

As I paged through old Trumpets and Fortresses, the word "untiring" was used in reference to Dr. Becker innumerable times. How can a man be untiring for 19 years? It is no wonder that a heart that has been working untiringly would be wearing down somewhat.

Dr. Becker has used his motto, "For a Greater Wartburg" every step of the way.

I believe that naming the Chapel-auditorium the Becker Chapel-auditorium would be a fitting honor to our president for many reasons. It symbolizes his ideals in the following ways:

It is the House of God as a center of religious activities and worship on campus.

The Chapel-auditorium is a symbol of culture and fine art as a place for dramatic productions, concerts, Artist Series and convocations.

It signifies the academic standards Dr. Becker stands for as a place of lectures, classes and stimulating convocations.

The Chapel-auditorium is a home for the Wartburg community where we join together in learning, worship, culture and faith in God.

Realizing the outstanding work Dr. Becker has done and is doing at Wartburg, the name Becker Chapel-auditorium would serve as a constant reminder of his untiring efforts.

Spirited supporters from other colleges are poor sports when they holler at the referees. Wartburg students are just showing their school spirit when they "boo" at every call the referee makes. Funny what a difference point of view makes.

Suggestion for a desperate Snow Weekend Committee:

1. Institute snow dancing at the basketball games instead of square dancing.
2. Send out an urgent call for creative thinkers capable of sculpturing mud or making snow.

If a woman is selected as President, what shall we call her husband — The First Man?

Too often people are rushing to find temporary security — two words that are so completely opposed to each other as to be entirely impossible to achieve.

Performance Of 'Born Yesterday' Provides Excellent Entertainment

By Linda Stull

A refreshing change from the highly dramatic plays given so often in recent times by the Wartburg Theater is present in the comedy "Born Yesterday," which will be seen in its last performance tonight at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

The story of a millionaire junk dealer and his dumb blonde concubine is often humorous, yet has moments of true dramatic quality. The underlying theme of the play is certainly not a farcical one.

When Harry Brock comes to Washington, his main purpose is to gain fast legislation of a bill which will insure his freedom in enterprises which at times seem highly questionable. He brings his lawyer, a former Assistant Attorney General now turned drunk, along with him.

Also accompanying Brock are his butler and cousin, Eddie Brock; and his companion, Billie Dawn, an ex-chorus girl. Harry Brock is introduced to Senator Hedges, who is trying to gain legislation of the bill. A further incentive to the senator is an $80,000 bribe.

Paul Verall, a writer, becomes acquainted with Brock almost immediately. He is a man of high ideals and eventually Brock hires him to tutor Billie Dawn.

Although the play is a long one, it is usually lively and doesn't become boring. Perhaps, as in nearly all plays, the first act tends to drag a bit.

Throughout the next two acts, however, this fault seems to be eliminated as the viewer finds himself engrossed in the play.

Credit should be given to the production staff. Sound and lighting are good. The setting adds much to the overall appearance of the play. Color schemes and furniture are excellent, though the Danish modern chairs seemed rather incongruous to the '46 era.

Nevertheless, they look nice and add much to the set. Costumes are also in good taste. Perhaps the dresses are a little short for the period of the play, but they are quite attractive. Some of the business suits seem a bit too modern, too.

Al Sandau, senior, should be commended for a fine performance as Harry Brock. His characterization is quite good, especially toward the middle of the play when he seems to become more involved in his role. He portrays quite vividly the general stupidity and lack of values which Brock possesses.

Senior Dee Ann Dreier, of course, steals the show as Billie Dawn. She plays the role of the dumb blonde to near perfection. Her inflection of certain lines and her facial gestures are excellent.

As she progresses in her education and begins to find some values in life, one feels a part of her maturing process. Dee does a good job in slowly changing her character as Billie develops.

Sandau and Miss Dreier exhibit a skillful performance in a card playing scene. This scene, which is practically without lines, seems to show quite well the utter boredom and uselessness of their lives. The comedy aspect is not neglected either and some of the pantomiming is excellent.

Paul Verall, played by junior Dave Hutson, never really seems to establish himself as a firm character. He seems to lack depth and appears sometimes to be just an accidental part of the scene.

No doubt, a review of the first night's performance does not present a completely accurate picture, for by this time many of the flaws of that performance have been corrected. But Dave has the ability to make Paul into a much better character.

Sophomore Fran Wollenzien, in his first appearance on the Wartburg stage, plays Ed Devery, the lawyer. He does a good job with his lines, but his general character as a drunk isn't too convincing. Perhaps nervousness and lack of experience contribute to this fault.

A little more polishing could make his character, which is basically sound, solid. He is, nonetheless, an asset to Wartburg Theater and we look forward to seeing him in future roles.

Two characters of lesser importance, who should receive credit for fine acting, are Senator and Mrs. Hedges, played by junior David Perkins and senior Nancy Keel.

Perkins does a commendable job in the role of the senator, who really accomplishes nothing and treads lightly on others, so as not to lose their votes.

Miss Keel is a charming Mrs. Hedges, who isn't really too intelligent, but conforms to the social life of the "upper crust."

Ron Kuehl, sophomore, who plays Eddie Brock, should also be mentioned. He is a convincing puppet of an invincible master. At times his actions are a little too mechanical, but generally he does a good job.

Dave Foege, freshman, who plays the assistant manager; Sarah Steidinger, sophomore, the maid; and juniors Doug Langholz, Norma Gray and Bob Bone and senior Dan Moeller, in small roles, are the more incidental characters of the play. All do a good job in adding to the general mood.

Basically, the play is excellent and if you haven't seen it, be sure to go to tonight's performance. It will be an entertaining experience.

Director John Gill and his assistant, junior Carol Arendt, should be commended for a job well done.

The smoking issue is one of the "hot" issues today, even at Wartburg, as shown by the statement by the President's Cabinet elsewhere in this issue. The one and only basis for the decision, according to the administration, is the report filed by the Surgeon General on smoking and health.

Before this decision was reached by the Cabinet, they contacted the Student Senate, asking for their opinion in this matter.

The Senate attempted to find out how the students felt, and on the basis of the majority of the students they contacted, the Senate recommended that the sale of cigarettes in the Den be continued as always. The Senate then drew up a statement of our position in the matter and asked me to present it to the Dean of Students with the request that I be allowed to present the statement at the next meeting of the President's Cabinet.

The request was granted, and I presented the paper and the students' viewpoints to the Cabinet last Wednesday. Nevertheless, the administration saw fit to issue the statement referred to above, stopping the sale of cigarettes.

Since that time I have spoken with several of the administrators, and I believe that there are several points which the Cabinet did not make explicit in its statement.

Meyer Says Smoking Still Students' Choice

KWAR Program Director Forgotten, Reader Suggests Apology Is In Order

To the editor:

I wish to recall to the reader's mind the feature story about KWAR-FM in the Jan. 11 issue.

One important factor concerning the station was overlooked. Terry Havel, program director, was not even mentioned, yet it is he who has done, and is doing, more for KWAR than anyone else.

It seems that a reporter doing a story on the radio station would notice this. This is like writing a story about a newspaper and not mentioning the editor.

I think an apology is in order. Let's give credit where credit is due.

Barb Nelson

Editor's Note:
I apologize.

(1) This is not meant to be moral legislation; the college is not telling us that we cannot smoke. Smoking is an individual matter, and the right of anyone who chooses to do so. The Cabinet is not saying here, "Thou shalt not smoke!"

(2) This decision is not meant to prevent the purchase of cigarettes. Students may still buy cigarettes anywhere they wish. The only difference is that they will no longer be able to buy them in the Den. This rule may be an inconvenience, but it is certainly not a prohibition from purchasing cigarettes.

(3) What the Cabinet is saying, as I understand it, is that they do not want to be a party to deliberately spreading anything which has definitely been shown to be harmful to people's health, and after the government report, cigarettes now fall into that category.

Even though some students may be caused some inconvenience by the action, the administration is not denying the students' right to purchase; they may still purchase cigarettes wherever they are sold. The administration is merely exercising its right to decide what it wants to sell.

This is the right of any store owner, and the administration has decided that it does not want to sell anything inherently injurious to the health of anyone who uses it. Since cigarettes have been shown to be in this category, they have decided to discontinue their sale.

These, I think, are the thoughts behind the decision. I do not think the question in this issue is whether or not we can smoke or even whether or not students should smoke. The real issue is whether or not the administration will continue deliberately and willingly to help people "commit suicide the slow way," as Stringfellow put it. This is not to say that they will not permit you to do so if you wish; it is merely saying, "We won't help you."

Can you smoke? Sure! Should you smoke? That is your decision, and you still are the one who makes it. The only difference is that if you decide, "Yes," the College wants no part of your decision.

Pres. Continues To Progress

President C. H. Becker's convalescence continues to progress satisfactorily. Doctors now encourage him to take short walks out-of-doors.

Becker is now able to receive more visitors, and within a week he hopes to receive permission to drive his car on short rides. He continues to step up the pace of his work at home and hopes to spend a limited amount of time in his office in a week or two.

President Becker commented that he was very impressed by both the number and sincerity of messages from students, faculty, and friends. They have given him much encouragement.

Swenson To Speak To Science Club

Dr. Clayton A. Swenson, professor of physics, Iowa State University, and senior physicist, Ames Laboratory of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, will speak to the Science Club Feb. 19.

Swenson received his B.S. degree from Harvard University, Harvard, Mass., and his Ph.D. at Oxford University, England. He served on the staffs at Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass. He joined the Iowa State staff in 1955.

Author of approximately forty-five scientific papers, Dr. Swenson's major area of interest is solid state physics with emphasis on high pressure research and low temperature physics.

Karrow Heads Frosh Class

Bill Karrow, from Appleton, Wis., was elected the new freshman class president yesterday. He replaces Jack Fistler.

The freshman also selected their representatives for the Student Senate. Two senators were re-elected. They are Cappy Carroll, La Grange, Ill. and Ken Schrankel, Shell Lake, Wis. The third senator is Jim Lubben, Anamosa.

Wartburg Personals

Miss Helen Wright, Art Department, represented the college at the national meeting of the College Art Association, which was held Jan. 29 through Feb. 1 in Philadelphia, Penn.

The meeting consisted of two types of informative programs, which were being held continuously throughout the sessions. Programs consisted of panel discussions and presentations of formal papers concerning some aspect of art.

A highlight of the sessions was a presentation of college art techniques and methods of teaching, moderated by Dore Ashton, writer for the New York Times.

Previous to the meeting, Miss Wright spent some time at the Philadelphia Art Museum, which has, she said, "A marvelous contemporary art collection," and a day at the Barnes Foundation, a privately owned art collection of largely contemporary works not generally open to the public.

Dr. Edwin Liemohn, Music Department, will be included in the 1964 edition of the Dictionary of International Biography.

This volume, which is published in London, lists approximately five thousand biographical references. It is found in all major libraries of the world.

Mrs. Margaret Garland, Journalism Department, was listed in the 1963 edition.

Mary Rossiter, senior, received a diamond from senior Doug Goke on Jan. 27. Mary is from Fenton and Goke is from Platteville, Wis.

Verlyn Behm, sophomore from Peoria, Ill., became engaged to Pearl Lemieux, sophomore, St. Paul, Minn., on Jan. 27. They have no definite wedding plans.

Senior Lana Stavnheim, Clarion, became engaged to Don Ringenberg on Jan. 18. Don is a 1963 Wartburg graduate and is a coach and teacher at Cedar Prairie High School.

Staff Members To Attend Conf.

Two members from each the Trumpet and Fortress staffs and their advisor, Mrs. Margaret Garland, will attend a journalism conference at the State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls, on March 13 and 14.

This conference, planned by Alpha Phi Gamma National Fraternity of Journalism, is open to all Iowa college newspapers and yearbooks.

Individual workshops in news writing, sports, photography, feature writing and layout will be held by representatives of the Des Moines Register and the Waterloo Courier.

Yearbook advisors and instructors from the State University of Iowa will also conduct workshops on layout, photography and copy-writing.

The cartoonist of PRIMROSE GRAMMER, which has appeared in the Waterloo Courier, will be guest speaker at the Friday evening supper. A major speaker for the general conference is yet to be chosen.

Lenten Services Begin Wed.

"Compassion Unlimited" has been designated as the general theme for special Lenten chapel services, according to senior Irene Birkmeier of the Chapel Committee. These services, which begin this Wednesday, will be held each Wednesday evening at 6:30 in the Chapel-auditorium.

Speaker for Lenten worship services will be Dr. Edwin Schick, Religion Department.

Topics for his sermons will be: Feb. 12 — "Love Unlimited—

This Much the Father Cares."

Feb. 19 — "The Servant Image—The Senseless Suffering of a Scapegoat?"

Feb. 26 — "History Transfixed—The Compassion of Remembrance."

March 4 — "The Failure of Religion—Compassion or Only Orthodox?"

March 11 — Dr. Hulme—Spiritual Emphasis Week.

March 18 — "Love Can Do No More—Be Reconciled To God!"
